RACES IN THE MUD

Mars Gets the Long Sweepstakes, Ajax the Sea and Sound Stakes.

COLD DAY AT THE TRACK.

Major Daly and Deception Among the Horses Which Yet Could Run.

RACE TRACK, SHEPHERD BAY. June 23.—The weather was decidedly mean at the track to-day. A cold, searching east wind, accompanied by driving rain, made the few thousand spectators keep well under cover throughout the afternoon.

Profuse scratching did not tend to improve the programme any, and the sport laid fair to be rather tame and uninteresting. The track was a quagmire, fetlock deep in mud.

Wet days, as a rule, are bad ones for the talent, and the racing started with a fader for them.

Dr. Hasbrouck was made an odds-on favorite in the opening event, but was badly beaten. He never seemed able to extend himself in the slippery going, and finished a poor fourth.

Major Daly, a 7 to 1 chance, made most of the running, and finished lengths in front, pulled to a walk. This horse's last race, when he forced St. Florian to a drive at Morris Park, had not been his best, but he was in good luck today.

Ajax had a remarkably easy victory in the second race. Sloane rode him just right. He went out in front and then took a wrap. Waiting until the turn was reached, he suddenly shot out and had the others all tangled up in their effort to catch him. He won in a walk.

Comanche, whipped out, beat Rainbow for the place.

Louise was added, but for a reason no one could fathom. It was a sure thing she would be fourth, and she was a very good last.

The flag fell to a bad start in the third race. Saragosa got the best of the start, and Count was beaten before the backstretch was reached.

The field was badly strung out when they had gone a quarter. Littlefield laid second with Mars and waited for Saragosa to die. This he did at the head of the stretch, and Mars was enabled to win easily from Kilkenny, who also passed the staggering Saragosa.

Kilkenny was favorite. Count was also heavily played, while Mars, though second choice, carried but little money.

FIRST RACE.
A sweepstakes of $15 each, with $1,000 added; Futurity course.
